West Nile Virus Claims Life of Second Kent County Resident

GRAND RAPIDS – The Kent County Health Department (KCHD) has learned that a Kent County resident who was hospitalized with West Nile Virus has died due to complications of the illness. There are currently 13 suspected or confirmed cases of West Nile Virus in Kent County.

The threat of contracting West Nile Virus through a mosquito bite is still a concern in Kent County. This threat will remain until consistently cold weather kills the insects.

“It can take two or three good frosts to get rid of all of the mosquitoes,” said Adam London, Administrative Health Officer at KCHD. “We want to ensure that people don’t put their guard down and continue to follow precautions until then.”

There is no vaccine or cure for West Nile. The best treatment is prevention.

KCHD recommends the following:

- Applying insect repellent that contains the active ingredient DEET and always following the manufacturer’s directions for use on the label.
- Draining standing water in the yard. Empty water from flower pots, pet bowls, clogged rain gutters, buckets, barrels, and cans. Anywhere water can collect, mosquitoes can breed.
- Avoid being outside at dusk and dawn when mosquito activity is high.
- Wear light colored long- sleeved shirts and long pants.

Only about 20% of the people infected will notice symptoms that may include headache, body aches, joint pains and fatigue. Most people with this type of West Nile virus completely recover. West Nile can develop into a severe illness that can affect the central nervous system. Some damage to the central nervous system can be permanent. In rare instances the disease can lead to death.
